

SkyGen is a distributor of solutions for cell and molecular biology, genetics, and molecular diagnostics.

Since 2012, we have been helping laboratories at research institutes, agrobiological centers, and universities address specific scientific and applied challenges in biotechnology, breeding, plant genetics, and microbiology.

We supply high-quality reagents, consumables, and equipment from leading global manufacturers.

We help laboratories build complete solutions — from selecting reagents and equipment to implementation, launch, and ongoing support.

We do more than supply products — we ensure operational reliability and help our customers achieve meaningful scientific results.

This enables our customers to:

- Reduce the time required to select and integrate equipment and reagents;
- Minimize compatibility risks;
- Receive prompt expert support at every stage of their research.

Scientific Support: science@skygen.com

Order Department: sales@skygen.com